

John D. "Jack" McClung

September 18, 1904 – December 31, 1969

(From Beckley Post Herald December 1969)

John D. McClung Dies In Hospital

HINTON (PNS) — John D. (Jack) McClung, 65, of South Charleston, formerly of Hinton, died at 4:20 a.m. Wednesday in a Charleston hospital.

Born in Fayette County, Sept. 18, 1904, he was a son of the late Samuel J. and Maude Lilly McClung.

He lived the early part of his life in Hinton and had lived in South Charleston for 27 years.

A graduate of Hinton High School, he attended Concord College and was a retired employe of the Union Carbide Corp., in South Charleston.

He was a member of the Central Baptist Church in Hinton and the Machinists Lodge in South Charleston.

Survivors include his wife, Elva McCandlish McClung; a son, Samuel W. of South Charleston; a foster son, James E. McCandlish of South Charleston, and a sister, Mrs. Faye Havens of Hazelton, Idaho.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Friday in the Snodgrass Funeral Home in South Charleston with Rev. Thomas Dews in charge.

The body will arrive at the Ronald Meadows Funeral Parlors in Hinton at 1 p.m. Friday where friends may call. Graveside rites will be at 3:30 p.m. Friday in the Crews Cemetery at Nimitz with Rev. W. Robert McCoy in charge.